

COMIC CON-VERSATION LIBRARY ★ FESTIVAL

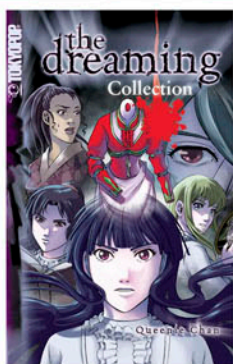

The Comic Con-versation Library Festival (CCV) is an avenue for the comics community to mingle with the library community through a diverse program of engagement, which includes workshops, live drawing sessions, panels, and exhibitions. It is aimed at children, teens, and adults.

Comic Con-versation (CCV) began in 2014 with an evening comic convention at Ashfield Library. In 2015, CCV organisers contacted other public libraries in Sydney to gauge interest in running a week-long comics festival. Six libraries came on board in 2015, fourteen libraries held comics events in 2016, and now in 2017, CCV has grown to include twenty libraries, making Comic Con-versation a truly Sydney-wide festival. Libraries participating this year include: Burwood, Fairfield, Liverpool, Ryde, Sutherland, and the Inner West Council Libraries of Ashfield, Leichhardt, and Marrickville.

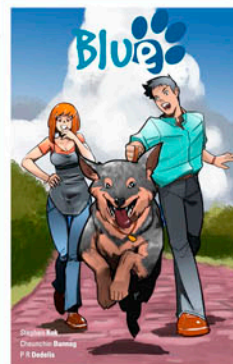

The aim of CCV is to promote the works of the local comics community and highlight the graphic novel collections held in libraries. Planning for CCV17 has begun, and more information can be found at www.facebook.com/comicconversation2017/
